Section 5: CLOZE TEST

Read the following passage and choose the word that best fits each gap.

Earth is enveloped in an atmosphere of mostly nitrogen, oxygen and water vapor. This air, like liquid water, behaves as a fluid. As air flows (1)_____ one place to another, it carries its properties with it, changing the temperature, humidity and more. Weather is simply the byproduct of our atmosphere moving heat from one place to another.

Cooler air is dense and can't hold much moisture; warmer air is less dense and can hold more water. (2)_____ regions of air with different temperatures and densities meet, the boundary is called a front. Sometimes these cloudy clashes can (3)_____ rain, as the cooling warm air is forced to drop its water.

It's not just fronts that can make it rain; convection can (4)_____ drive precipitation. As warm, moist air rises, it also cools, and its water condenses onto airborne particles such as dust. These droplets are carried aloft by rising air, growing larger and larger until they become too heavy and (5)_____ back to Earth.

Cartoon films have very few limits. If you can draw something, you can (6) _____ it move on the cinema screen. The use of new ideas and advanced computer programs means that cartoons are becoming exciting again for people of (7) _____ ages. By the end of the 1970s, the cinema world had decided that cartoons were only for children. But soon afterwards one or two directors had some original new ideas. They proved that it was (8)_____ to make films in which both adults and children could share the fun. However, not (9) _____ cartoon film was successful. The Black Cauldron, for example, failed, mainly because it was too frightening for children and too childish for adults. Directors learn from this (10) _____, and the film companies began to make large amounts of money again.

Exercise 6: Choose the right words from the box to fill the gaps

drama	actions	front	stun	safety	dangerous	in	risk	at
--------------	----------------	--------------	-------------	---------------	------------------	-----------	-------------	-----------

Modern cinema audiences expect to see plenty of thrilling scenes in (1)_____ films. These scenes, which are known as "stunts", are usually performed by stuntmen who are specially trained to do dangerous things safely. Anyone can crash a car, but if you are shooting a film, you have to be extremely precise, sometimes stopping right in (2)_____ of the camera and the film crew.

At an early stage of the production, an expert stuntman is called in to work out the action scenes and form a team. He is the only person who can go against the wishes of the director although he will usually only do this in the interests of (3)_____ .

Many famous actors like to do the (4)_____ parts themselves, which produces better shots, since stuntmen don't have to work in for the actors. Actors like to become involved (5)_____ all the important aspects of the characters they are playing, but without the recent progress in safety equipment, insurance companies would never let them take the (6)_____. To do their own stunts, actors need to be good athletes, but they must also be sensible and know their limits. If they were to be hurt, the film would come to a sudden halt.
