READING

Read the passage and choose the best answer.

One of the most important skills that you should have is time-management. You have to manage your time efficiently when you have something to do such as homework, housework, projects and other tasks, or cope with competing deadlines. I have never forgotten to do my homework. Each time I have a homework assignment, I always write down on my sticky notes. Every night when studying I check my sticky notes, so I know what I have to do. Therefore, I don't forget to do my homework. And I rarely have to struggle to meet deadlines. I know how to manage my time and arrange my tasks well. Sometimes, I have to cope with different tasks with different deadlines. I usually jot them down in a notebook. To be effective, I list the tasks I have and sort these in order of priority, and then to devote most time to the most important tasks. Therefore, I always complete my assignment on time. Although time-management skills are not easy to develop, I have some ways to manage my time well. First, I often set goals, and make plans for the things I need to do on a desk diary or an app on my mobile. After that, I organize them on a schedule so that I can check later. In another way, I prioritize my activities, decide what is more important and give it the most of my time and add it to the top of my list. I also break down bigger projects into small, manageable steps so that I can accomplish them one step at a time. Besides, I always minimize distractions as much as possible, don't use the phone, close unnecessary browsers, and block social media such as Facebook, Twitter... to concentrate on main tasks. When you have good time-management skills, it helps you to become more independent and confident.
