Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 31 to 35.

As technology continues to evolve, many experts believe that the cities of the future will be more connected, sustainable, and efficient. In these cities, smart technology will play a vital role in improving daily life. Buildings will be equipped with sensors that adjust lighting, temperature, and energy consumption to reduce waste and increase comfort. Transportation systems will be fully automated, with electric self-driving cars and high-speed trains replacing traditional vehicles. These vehicles will reduce air pollution and make commuting faster and more convenient.

Urban farming will become more common as people seek to grow their own food locally. Vertical gardens and rooftop farms will be a familiar sight in these futuristic cities. Additionally, many cities will have green spaces that promote health and well-being, with parks, walking paths, and clean air for residents to enjoy. The cities of the future will also be designed with inclusivity in mind. Public spaces will be accessible for people with disabilities, and technology will ensure that all residents can access services and information easily. With a focus on sustainability, efficiency, and accessibility, these cities will provide a high quality of life for their inhabitants.
